ASKS COMMITTEE TO MEET SOON TO DEAL WITH "VOLUNTEERS"

Great Britain Anxious to Restore Friendly Relations With Italy but Determined to Get Question of Italian Troops in Spain Settled—France Weary of Delays

LONDON, Oct. 13 (P).—The Cabinet decided today in a conciliatory move toward Italy to try again through the twenty-seven-nation non-intervention committee to get Italian volunteers out of the Spanish civil war.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, anxious to restore friendly relations with Premier Mussolini as the first step toward European appeasement, at the same time sought the backing of the Opposition in Parliament in dealing with the delicate situation in Europe and the Far East. The Cabinet met for two and a half hours and was understood to have decided to ask the Non-Intervention Committee to meet quickly, probably Friday, to deal with the problem of volunteer withdrawals from Spain. Italy herself proposed this course last Saturday in rejecting an Anglo-French invitation for a tri-power conference to discuss the question.

TO JOIN IN CONFERENCE

Canada to Name Delegate To Meeting of Nine-Power Treaty Signatories

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 (P).—Canada will join with other signatories to the Nine-Power Treaty in a conference on joint efforts to mediate the Sino-Japanese dispute, and will name representatives as soon as the place and date of the meeting have been fixed. Prime Minister Mackenzie King said tonight.

Concluded in Washington in 1922, following a conference at which Canada was represented by the late Sir Robert Borden, the Nine-Power Treaty, Mr. Mackenzie King said, laid down principles it was hoped would lead to stabilization of conditions in the Far East. Parties to it were United States, France, Italy, Japan, China, Belgium, Portugal, The Netherlands and the Dominions of the British Empire, the latter grouped as one.

EARLY MEETING EXPECTED
Recently the League of Nations suggested those countries party to the treaty initiate consultations concerning the conflict in China. It is expected the meeting will be held within a fortnight and the place and date will be announced shortly.

"The Government, in common with others," Mr. Mackenzie King said, "have watched with deep concern the course of the present conflict as well as its repercussions in many quarters."

"Canada will endeavor to take part in a responsible and co-operative manner in the joint effort to bring about a settlement."

MEETS REVERSE IN BY-ELECTION

Dr. L. H. Guest Wins North Islington Seat for Labor Party

LONDON, Oct. 13 (P).—Labor tonight won the North Islington House of Commons seat from the Government, for the first by-election reverse the Chamberlain Government has suffered in fourteen contests.

Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, a former member of Parliament for North Islington, defeated Sir Wilfrid Hart Sugden, Conservative, in a straight party fight. The vote was 15,523 to 12,227.

The seat, one of the many London constituencies, was opened by the death of Col. A. W. Goodman, Conservative, who in the 1935 general election defeated R. S. Young, Labor, 20,744 votes to 17,359.

In today's by-election both Conservative and Labor voting was far lighter than two years ago, with the Government suffering when its vote fell by approximately 8,500 compared with a Labor drop of about 3,800.

Ontario Hit By Winter's First Storm

TORONTO, Oct. 13 (P).—Small fishing boats hurried to harbors on Georgian Bay and automobiles were stalled awaiting the end of the first blizzard of winter as Western and Northern Ontario received a blanket of snow today.

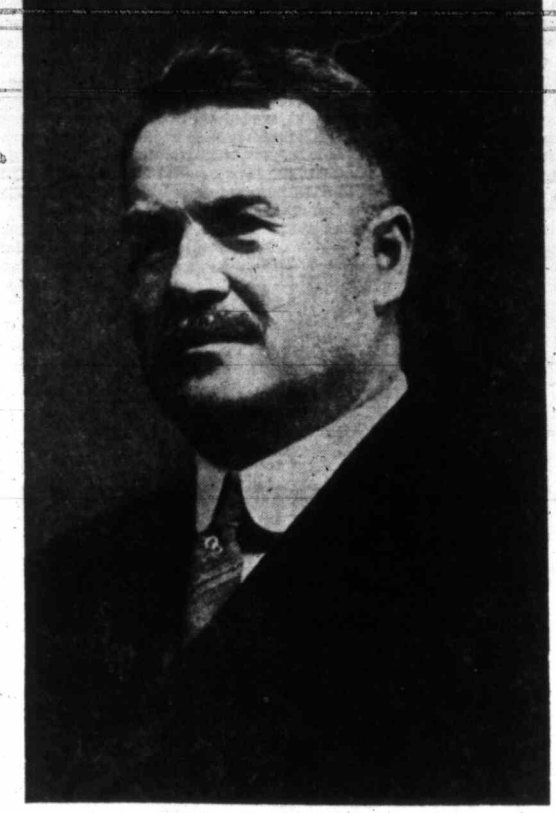

At Meaford, on Georgian Bay, snow covered the ground an inch deep as the blizzard raged for an hour. Fruit growers hurriedly organized to harvest apples before frost ruined the crop.

Temperatures dipped to below the freezing mark in many centres.

RESIGNATION ANNOUNCED

Hon. S. F. Tolmie Called by Death At Saanich Home

Member of Parliament for Victoria and Former Premier of British Columbia Passes Away After Lengthy Illness—Member of Old Pioneer Family Widely Known and Well-Beloved

HON. Dr. Simon Fraser Tolmie, P.C., LL.D., M.P., V.S., Premier of British Columbia for five years between 1928 and 1933, twice Federal Minister of Agriculture in Cabinets of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and five times elected member for Victoria in the House of Commons, Ottawa, passed away at 10:15 last night at the family residence, 978 Cloverdale Avenue, after a long illness.

The death of Dr. Tolmie removed one of the best loved figures in public life in Canada. Popular in success or in defeat, he remained to the end an outstanding member of a pioneer family that saw the union of the Crown Colonies of Vancouver Island and British Columbia, British Columbia's entry into Confederation, and colorful times long before the turn of the present century.

BORN AT FARM HOME
Born on January 25, 1867, shortly after the union of the two colonies and four years before this province entered Confederation, Simon Fraser Tolmie was the son of Dr. William Fraser Tolmie, an outstanding figure.

PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMBER

Passing of Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie Comes as Shock To Citizens

Personal and public regrets at the passing of Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie were expressed in tributes from citizens of Victoria and from Dr. Frank Patterson, leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia, last night. The death of Dr. Tolmie was made known to his friends late in the evening, but was not generally known throughout the city.

The following tributes testify the profound grief of representative citizens for the loss of British Columbia's former Premier and Victoria's member of the House of Commons:

ACTING PREMIER

Hon. John Hart, Acting Premier and Minister of Finance:
"The death of Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie removes a national figure from the public of Canada and creates a void that will be difficult to fill nationally, provincially and locally."

"His passing is a deep personal loss to me, for Dr. Tolmie and I had been intimate friends for nearly thirty-five years. During that time I always found him to be a man who placed his sense of public responsibility before his own personal wishes and ambitions. As Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion Government, he did much to stimulate the agricultural development of this vast Dominion and to his position brought a wealth of knowledge on farming subjects."

Both as Premier of the Province and as a private member of the Federal House from Victoria, Dr. Tolmie, at all times, had the interest of British Columbia at heart and represented his constituents well.

"As an early exhibitor at our annual fair, he was a great help."

FRANCO'S ARMY GAINING GROUND

Big Push Continues After Great Land and Air Fighting

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 13 (P).—Insurgent General Franco's forces reported tonight they captured a number of villages and strategic hills in their push toward Gijon in the Eastern Asturian sector.

Insurgent military advisers said Vallovi and several other villages had been taken following engagements south of Cangas de Onis on the Arriondas highway—about thirty miles southeast of Gijon.

Dispatches from both sides reaching the border today showed a great land and air battle, possibly one of the greatest in the Spanish war, was fought yesterday on the Aragon front.

The battle occurred when the Government forces opened a new offensive, attacking fiercely both by air and on the ground. More than thirty warplanes were brought down in two clashes between a Government fleet of forty planes and the enemy's crack fleet of 100 at Zaragoza, reports from both sides showed.

The heavy shelling of Madrid is reported to be continuing.

Floods Delay Aid Reaching Two in Crash

KHARTOUM, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Oct. 13 (CP-Reuters).—Floods delayed the rescue tonight of Brigadier-General A. C. Lewin and his wife, discovered near here, apparently unhurt, after their plane crashed on a flight from England to Kenya.

A rescue party traveling by land is not expected to reach the couple until Thursday at the spot near Duk Paili where an Imperial Airways plane located their wrecked craft yesterday.

ARGUMENTS TO BE IN WRITING

Dominion to Hear No Oral Submissions on Disputed Legislation

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 (P).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King has intimated to the Alberta Government and other interested parties that any representations they may wish to make to the Federal Government with respect to Alberta legislation referred to the Governor-General, should be in writing, he told a press conference tonight.

Today the three measures in question, dealing with taxation of banks, control of banking, and publication of news, were delivered to the Secretary of State and passed along to the Department of Justice. They will be studied by legal experts and laid before the Governor-General-in-Council. Immediately the various representations have been studied the acts will be passed upon.

Mr. Mackenzie King said he was convinced the most efficient method of dealing with the bills was by accepting only written submissions from interested parties. In that way there would be a complete record and no possibility of misunderstanding or wrong interpretation of arguments. He had received numerous communications from private citizens and organizations, taking exception to the bills.

Use Many Shells For One Sniper

SHANGHAI, Oct. 14 (P).—An American naval radioman was slightly wounded by shrapnel today when a Japanese destroyer poured shell after shell into ruined Pootung, attempting to wipe out a lone Chinese sniper who had hit a Japanese picket boat.

Japanese With Increased Forces Continue Pounding of Sectors North of Settlement but Fail to Smash Chinese Resistance on Boundaries—Apparently Making Feeler Thrusts

Claim Two Major Victories On Northern China Front

SHANGHAI, Oct. 14 (P).—Bitter fighting in the Shanghai sector continued today, Japanese artillery incessantly pounding the Chapei, Kiangwan and Lotien sectors north of the International Settlement, but with seemingly small effect. Pierce machine gunning adjacent to the international areas caused the Royal Ulster Rifles Regiment temporarily to abandon patrol posts on the fringe of the fighting.

Japanese today declared their North China forces continued their drive south along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways. A Chinese cavalry detachment of 700 was annihilated when it was surrounded near Shihchiachuang on the Peiping-Hankow line.

NOT EASY TO GIVE MONEY

Lord Nuffield Finds Worry Too Great—Bothered By Beggars

LONDON, Oct. 13 (P).—After offering £1,300,000 to Oxford University for a new school of physical chemistry, Lord Nuffield today declared the idea of giving is "very nice, but the worry from gifts is too great."

"The idea that it is easy to give money always was the biggest fallacy in the world," said the motor car manufacturer, whose benefactions in the last decade have reached nearly £10,000,000 (£49,575,000). "It has caused me 500 per cent more trouble, since I started, than my business."

HUNDREDS OF LETTERS

He said he hoped the university would accept his gift, but added: "Now I will get 300 begging letters daily for a month. I am so sick of seeing them that I am not going to answer any more."

Lord Nuffield last December gave Oxford £2,000,000 for endowment of a school for medical research. Other gifts have been creation of a fund of £2,125,000 for the benefit of employees of his factories and £2,000,000 for the distressed areas.

His latest gift to Oxford was for purchase of a site between Worcester and Pembroke Colleges and endowment of the site.

Fresh Link In History Discovered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (P).—Discovery of the skeleton of an infant in a cave near Great Lake Utah, has provided science with a missing link in the story of man in North America, the Smithsonian Institution announced today.

Dr. Julian H. Steward, Smithsonian archaeologist, who found the skeleton, said fragments of bone instruments, such as knives, darts, scrapers and awls, found near the skeleton, are entirely different in design from evidence of previous and subsequent culture.

NOT PARTICIPATING

Diplomatic circles were certain Japan would not participate in the proposed conference, although it is a signatory of the nine-power treaty guaranteeing Chinese territorial integrity. The following reasons were given:

1. Japan cannot take part in deliberations initiated by the League of Nations, from which it has withdrawn.
2. For reasons of prestige and national honor, Japan cannot join a conference convened under a treaty it is accused of having violated.
3. To accept, would be to acknowledge and reinforce the treaty's present validity, and consequently to accept the irregularity of Japan's operations in China.

Claims Fire Drills Are Carried Out in Perfunctory Manner

Trustee Kenneth Ferguson Makes Charge at School Board Meeting—Matter to Be Probed By Municipal Inspector George H. Deane

CHARGING that school fire drills were performed in a perfunctory manner, Trustee Kenneth Ferguson informed the City School Board last evening that the whole question should be immediately discussed with Fire Chief Alex Munroe. He questioned whether secondary exits were ever used in drills.

Municipal Inspector George H. Deane told trustees the fire department found control of children satisfactory at all drills. He was asked by the board to discuss the matter of fire drills with principals of every public school.

Trustees Charles R. Bishop, Percy E. George and John Wallace were appointed a committee to investigate the fire alarm system at Victoria College.

On motion of Trustee Walter E. Stanland, seconded by Trustee Ferguson, it was decided that the entire board would comprise a salary revision committee to discuss the question with teachers in the near future.

FORCED TO RETIRE

Trustee W. C. Moresby, K.C., chairman of the board, stated it was impossible for him to reconsider his decision to retire from the board on December 31. He said the extra time required by his legal business forced him to terminate his civic service with great regret. He was elected to the school board thirteen years ago and has been chairman during the past three years.

ASKS COMMITTEE TO HOLD MEETING SOON

It would be made clear, however, informed sources decided, that unless speedy results were obtained through the committee, Great Britain and France would "recover their full liberty of action." They said two weeks should be long enough to obtain results.

"Full liberty of action" was interpreted to mean reconsideration of the question of reopening the Franco-Spanish frontier to the passage of arms and men to Spain and lifting of the British ban on the sale of arms, as well as the whole problem of non-intervention in the Spanish conflict.

Besides conferring with his ministers, Prime Minister Chamberlain had a forty-five-minute conference with Clement Attlee, Leader of the Opposition in Parliament, and his deputy, Arthur Greenwood.

The Prime Minister later went to Buckingham Palace, where it was believed he made a full report to the King on the day's developments.

MEETING IN PARIS
PARIS, Oct. 13 (P).—An extraordinary three-hour meeting of the leading members of the Cabinet was held today with chiefs of the navy and air force present.

Among those who attended were Premier Chamberlain, Vice-Premier Blum, Foreign Secretary Delbos and the three defence ministers. They were advised by Vice-Admiral Darlan and General Fequant, heads of the navy and air general staffs.

(Sources close to the Government said they interpreted the meeting both from its length and the men who attended it, as meaning that whatever the next Franco-British move in the Spanish problem may be, "there will be a club behind it.")

Semi-official sources insisted that France was weary of delays on the Spanish question and will insist the European Non-Intervention Committee reach an agreement within six days on the principle of withdrawal of foreign volunteers and on a general plan of how to execute it.

France's stand, they said, was tempered only by a determination to maintain "complete harmony of views and action between France and Great Britain."

ment of a school to be built on the site, with $200,000 earmarked for medical research. Lord Nuffield's idea is the school should be devoted to co-operative research by academic and practical men who are specialists in human fields. They would include philosophers, economists, jurists and scientists.

FOR RHODES SCHOLARS
Asked if the new school would benefit students from the Dominions, Lord Nuffield said it would "most decidedly be for Rhodes scholars." "It will be open to students from the Dominions as well as at home," he said.

Explaining the extent of his gifts to medicine, Lord Nuffield said: "I feel it is up to anyone who has more money than he requires to help the less fortunate, especially those who were not blessed with such wealth as I have."

CHURCH HARVEST CONCERT IS HELD

Float For Fishing Vessels in Harbor Sought by Council

Alderman W. T. Straith Declares Officialdom Must Not Stop Progress—Two Committees to Seek Action From Department of Transport

CONSTRUCTION of a fishermen's float near Johnson Street Bridge, first tentatively promised by the Department of Transport and then opposed by its local agent, will be pressed by the harbor and business and trade development committees, it was decided at a City Council meeting Tuesday evening.

Getting Up Nights Caused By Kidney Germs

Are you worried and annoyed by getting up at night? If so, you should know that the true cause may be irritating germs in the kidneys or bladder, which may also cause other distressing symptoms such as nervousness, leg pains, swollen joints, backache, dizziness, frequent headaches, puffiness, burning, stinging, loss of appetite and energy, so that you feel old before your time. Ordinary medicines can't help much because they don't combat such germs. The doctor's formula Cystex starts fighting kidney germs in 3 hours, checks pain, stinging, burning and keeps the kidneys and bladder entirely satisfactory in 1 week and be exact in the medicine you need or money back. Ask your druggist for Cystex (discontinued today). The money back agreement protects you.

Alderman W. T. Straith, chairman of the harbor committee, declared: "It is a matter of great regret that we cannot have a fishermen's float here like other Island communities. We must press our case. We must not take 'no' for an answer. Officialdom must not stop progress of our harbor."

It was unanimously decided that the business and trade development committee, headed by Alderman Archie Willis, should co-operate with Alderman Straith in securing a harbor float.

TRIBUTES ARE PAID
In passing a motion of deep regret at the sudden demise of Capt. Archie M. Aitken, the council paid silent standing tribute to his memory. Tribute was also paid to memory of the late William Reid, for thirty-three years with the city electric light department.

William A. Dodd, a native son of the city, was appointed cook at the Aged and Infirm Men's Home at a salary of $60 per month. He will be on probation for three months.

A letter from Miss Margaret J. Clay, librarian, informed the council that amendments to the Library Act did not affect the public library.

DARK STREETS

In replying to a letter from Native Sons of Canada complaining of dark streets when cluster lights were turned off, Alderman T. W. Hawkins stated he would be pleased to take out members of the lodge at any time to show them there were no grounds for their complaint.

Mayor Andrew McGavin stated that rumors of the past three weeks claiming that a number of women and young girls had been molested were absolutely false.

An application of Victoria Gas Company, Limited, for a foreshore lease on Rock Bay was sanctioned by the council and will be forwarded by the company to the Department of Transport.

It was decided to extend the main surface drain on Balfour Avenue a distance of 110 feet at a cost of $60 for material, and to accept a tender of $108 from Lemon, Gonnason Company, Limited, to supply inner doors for the City Hall.

TANK COMPLAINTS
Alderman Edward Williams stated the Saniaich council intended to submit recommendations designed to eliminate septic tank complaints at the city border.

In dealing with a claim of A. T. Packer for damage allegedly caused by his automobile by a projecting angle bar on Point Ellice Bridge, the council agreed the city was not liable.

A letter from Victoria Short-Wave Club informed the council that radio reception had improved considerably since replacement of a number of arc lights with electric light globes.

A complaint of J. M. Wood that goats and cattle tethered along Shelbourne Street were damaging his garden, was referred to Chief Thomas Heatley and the city solicitor, for action.

PEDESTRIAN LANES
A reminder from Chief Heatley that pedestrian lanes needed repainting was referred to the public works executive.

The city solicitor was authorized to assist the Panama Pacific Grain Terminal, Limited, in securing a quit claim deed to the grain elevator at Ogden Point. The deed will be passed along to the city.

Mayor McGavin, and Alderman

Worthington were authorized to deal with the Provincial Government in plans to establish a new forestry training camp at Victoria Goldstream Park.

The city engineer was given permission to remove an old Esquimalt waterworks building from the corner of Esquimalt and Admirals Road to Garbally Road at a cost of $325.

A tender of the Acme Press, Limited, to print the voters' list at 4c per line was accepted by the council.

METROPOLITAN AREA
On motion of Alderman Archie Willis, seconded by Alderman S. H. Okell, Alderman Willis was authorized to negotiate with Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt to hold a conference in regard to a metropolitan area for fire protection, policing and water matters.

The city engineer reported that water rates to St. Joseph's Hospital for the whole of 1936 would, by law, have been $1,997.94. He stated the amount charged was $1,648.50, but it would have been $1,198.77 had a 40 per cent discount been allowed.

Aldermen were urged to visit the intersection of Quadra Street and Toimie Avenue, where it is planned to paint no-parking yellow lines. The chief of police will also be asked for a report.

GARBAGE TOWING
Alderman James Adam was asked to interview the Island Tug & Barge Company, Limited, in an effort to have garbage towed farther out to sea and prevent it drifting back on beaches.

A formal vote of thanks was ordered dispatched to Mrs. A. B. Morkill for the work of Girl Guides in cleaning up local beaches.

Members of United States Building and Loan Societies See City

Approximately 530 visitors from all parts of the United States made a friendly invasion of Victoria yesterday, and spent the greater part of their sojourn here shopping and sightseeing.

They were in two parties comprising members of the Wisconsin Building and Loan Association, under the direction of C. P. Diggles, of the State Banking Department, Madison, and the United States Building and Loan Association, under the direction of Morton Bodfish, executive secretary, Chicago.

The Wisconsin party numbered seventy-four, and the national party 450.

The latter have recently attended the national convention of building and loan associations in Los Angeles, which was held October 6-8, and journeyed from that city to San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. Twelve railway cars were necessary to transport delegates.

The Wisconsin party journeyed from Chicago to Yosemite National Park and San Francisco, meeting the larger group at Portland.

The visitors, many of whom are making their first trip to the Canadian West, left on the 4:30 boat for Seattle and home.

The party is traveling east over the Great Northern, and was accompanied here by S. M. Farrell, district passenger agent for the company at Chicago.

Pinder secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Barker and George Brassard will act with the above-mentioned officers on the committee to the central executive.

SUFFERED 40 YEARS FROM CONSTIPATION

"For 40 years, I had been praying for a lasting remedy for constipation and its evils. Finally, I tried Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since that time (nearly 10 years ago) I have not taken any medicine. Have been well and entirely free from constipation."—Mrs. I. H. Kendig (address on request).

Don't let common constipation ruin your life. You can end it safely, without using drugs that soon lose their effectiveness. Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—with every meal—in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruit, or cook into appetizing recipes. ALL-BRAN absorbs more than twice its weight in water and gently clears away the wastes that cause headaches, tiredness and serious illness.

The vitamin B in ALL-BRAN helps tone up the entire intestinal tract. Buy ALL-BRAN from your grocer. Guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

ACCUSED PUTS BLAME ON BUS

Edwin C. Loughlean Takes Witness Stand in His Own Defence

Edwin C. Loughlean, charged with manslaughter following the death of W. G. Plover, victim of an automobile accident on the Island Highway on April 7, was on the witness stand when the Assize Court adjourned after yesterday afternoon's session. The hearing will be continued this morning, when Crown counsel, Alexis Martin, will cross-examine the accused.

Loughlean testified that at the time of the accident he was driving his automobile down a hill on the highway and had intended to turn on Admirals Road when he collided with an object. He said he did not know until afterward he had struck a man, and claimed his vision was interfered with by the lights of a bus parked at Admirals Road intersection.

The accused contradicted evidence by a previous witness that he was intoxicated at the time of the accident. He said he had only taken four glasses of beer during the evening ride to Sooke and back in company with three others. He claimed four glasses of beer would not have any effect on him.

OBJECTS TO STATEMENT
When this was objected to by Alexis Martin, for the Crown, Mr. Justice Murphy, the presiding judge, did not agree with disallowing the question, expressing the view that members of the jury might realize that there was no one else who would have a better idea of the effects upon himself than the witness.

His Lordship also took exception to the use of maps in connection with the trial. He said that the jury and all the members of the court had viewed the scene. He advised Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, to put the map away.

The accused said the bus driver was bothering him when he stopped within twenty-five or thirty feet of the accident by asking him to back up, that a man had been run over.

Loughlean testified he was excited at the time, and just as he was getting out of his car, the bus driver shone his bus lights into his face as he turned the bus about, which further bothered him.

Mrs. Mildred Penson and Miss Florence G. Anderson, who accompanied the accused and Charles Adams on the trip to Sooke, gave evidence. They said there was no one drunk in the party. The automobile worked well and the accused had taken only a few drinks of beer.

CONDITION OF BRAKES

Opening the defence, Mr. Henderson addressed the jury briefly. He said the evidence would show no one was intoxicated, and would submit that no matter how good the brakes of a car were, an accident might happen. The condition of the brakes in this case had nothing to do with the events under investigation, he contended.

In the forenoon, the evidence was taken of two Provincial Police who verified the scene, P. H. Brown and Gerald Davis.

Evidence as to the condition of brakes on the car driven by accused was given by Sgt. J. F. McNaught, who said the brakes of the car were useless.

Charles Adams testified, under cross-examination by Mr. Henderson, that there was no strong liquor in the party, and said no one was drunk.

GERMANY PLEDGED TO HELP BELGIUM

The declaration was not binding in case "Belgium should co-operate in any warlike operations against Germany."

Germany's pledge was made in a note signed by the foreign minister, Baron von Neurath. It said the Reich wished to define the German attitude toward her western neighbor because a new agreement replacing the Locarno Security Pact might take a long time.

Semi-officially it was acknowledged as a corollary to the Franco-British declaration of April 24, which absolved Belgium of her Locarno Treaty obligations to fight for Great Britain or France if either became the victim of aggression.

IS APART FROM QUARRELS

BRUSSELS, Oct. 13 (CP-Havas).—A cherished dream came true for Belgium today—her hope as a nation to stand aside from quarrels of major western powers and carry on an independent policy.

Acceptance of Germany's declaration pledging recognition of Belgian inviolability marked realization of these hopes. The declaration followed similar ones by Great Britain and France, and left the way open for Belgium to continue faithful to her obligations as a member of the League of Nations.

ACCEPTS RESPONSIBILITY

The Reich pledge, however, placed upon Belgium the responsibility of strengthening her defences in order that her territory may not be used, against Belgium's will, as a base of military action by other powers against Germany. Belgium accepted that responsibility.

In case Belgium, under the League obligations, willingly let her territory be used by foes of Germany in a war, the Reich would be freed of the pledge. However, offsetting this, Belgium had Germany's promise to come to her aid if she were attacked.

Naval Flyers of Netherlands Air Service Drowned

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, Oct. 13 (P).—Netherlands Air Commander H. G. Debruyne and eight other Netherlands naval officers were killed early today when their naval bombing plane plunged into the sea off the Java coast during a night flight.

Debruyne had been recently appointed commander of the Netherlands-India air service and was stationed at the flying base at Sumbawa, Java.

CHINESE WOMEN HELP REFUGEES

Local Benevolent Association's Committee Hostesses at Tea Bazaar

Benevolent enterprise rarely operates in more attractive form than it did yesterday afternoon and evening at the tea bazaar organized by the Women's Committee of the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association to augment their fund in aid of refugees of any and all races from the war zone in China.

Held in the Benevolent Association's headquarters, 636 Fisgard Street, the affair attracted a steady stream of patrons, both Oriental and Occidental. The latter, particularly, appreciated the beauty and novelty of the setting, the grace and charm of the Chinese women who acted as hostesses, the characteristic Chinese dishes served for refreshment, and the Chinese young people's continuous programme of music and dancing. A generous sum was realized from the undertaking.

GENEROUS DONATIONS

The bazaar tables, laden with all manner of brocades, fans, carvings, Chinese ornaments, and supplies of various kinds contributed by Chinese firms of the city in generous quantity, added further color to the big hall, already handsomely furnished with carved ceremonial chairs, gilt lattice-work screens, beautifully embroidered panels of gold and rose, green and gold, and hung with pink Chinese lanterns and tasseled Mandarin palace lamps. At one end the Union Jack and Chinese flag hung side by side above the portrait of Sun Yat Sen. All the windows were filled with bowls of flowers, and flowers also decked the tea tables, where chow mein shared honors with English tea and ice cream in popularity.

Mrs. Wah Quan, convener, and her thirty-five assistants all wore the beautiful, high-collared, close-fitting Chinese dress of flowered cut velvet or brocade in different gay colorings, the final touch of "chic" being the kayhow (slit) in the skirt and the nau or frog fastenings. Mrs. Jack Yip, vice-convener, assisted Mrs. Wah Quan as hostess; the head waiters were Miss Mabel Mar and Miss Wong, and in charge of the bazaar stalls was Miss Mabel Nip, assisted by Mrs. Victor Lang, Miss Josephine Wong, Mrs. Peter Lowe, Miss Annie Lore and Miss May Lee. At the receipt of custom was Mrs. Mun Wun, and in charge of the tea arrangements was Mrs. Lee Wah.

GAVE PROGRAMME

Children and young people taking part in the programme were as follows: Tap dancing, Margaret Mahr, Dorothy Quan, Gladys Nip, Mabel

DR. S. F. TOLMIE

Not only in this community, but throughout the Province and far afield in the Dominion, the death of Dr. S. F. Tolmie will be learned of with feelings of profound grief. He had become a national figure so well as he known all over the country, and his robust personality everywhere was regarded as typical of the West. He was a politician who can never have been said to have political ambitions. The duty of entering public office was thrust upon him when a Union Government was formed during the Great War, and when he was selected as the Union candidate here because of his popularity, and because, too, he was not regarded as a strong adherent of any party. He was appointed Minister of Agriculture in the Government of the late Sir Robert Borden, a post which he filled to the satisfaction of the industry all over Canada, and to the satisfaction, as well, of the people as a whole. Dr. Tolmie later was chosen to lead the Conservatives in this Province and served a term as Premier of British Columbia.

Again he was recalled to public duty when he contested a by-election for the Federal House, and again Victoria elected him. There had never been any waning in his popularity even in defeat in the Provincial election which saw his Union Party disappear. The same personal liking for him, which was entertained by both his own political supporters and those in opposition to him, was always maintained, and now he has gone there will be a fuller realization of the prominence he enjoyed in provincial life. His friends, indeed, were legion. His genial characteristics and his good fellowship were welcomed by all with whom he came into contact. He was always the soul of honesty in his efforts to work good for his fellow men, and he had the faculty of making and keeping friendships among all elements of citizenship. Dr. Tolmie's specific bent was towards agricultural matters, and he was always happiest when dealing with these. No British Columbian foresaw a greater future for the Province than he did, and he was ever sound in his judgment on matters within his knowledge that would make for betterment.

His death is like the removal of a landmark in the history of the Province, for the name of his family is incorporated in the annals of pioneering days, and well he sustained its worth during his lifetime. To know him was to know something of the spirit of the West, for he had the pioneering blood in his veins and was never happier than when outdoors. Dr. Tolmie was an asset in the country's political life, but he was more than that because of his buoyancy, breeziness and the vitality of his outlook. He belonged to the finest type of citizen, to those who have built the Great West and sustained its reputation as a land for workers to inhabit. His passing will be deeply mourned, and the multitude of his friends of all shades of political thought will extend heartfelt sympathy to the surviving members of his family, a sympathy in which this newspaper joins with sorrow because of the loss of one who had served his country well and unselfishly.

REQUIRING EXPLANATION

A Victoria produce firm complains that in April it shipped eleven sacks of local potatoes to the Coast marketing authority, under the Provincial Government, and that in September it received a cheque for $2.83 for the potatoes, or twenty-five and eight-elevenths cents for 100 pounds of potatoes worth $2.50 on the open market last spring.

If the complaint were an isolated one, the supposition might arise that some error had been made and that no one had been asked to wait five months to sell eleven sacks of potatoes on a controlled market for twenty-five and a fraction cents per sack. Unfortunately, the complaint is not an isolated one, as similar claims of low returns and long, long waits have been made by other firms, affecting several classes of produce.

Bear in mind that the purchasers have been paying top prices for their potatoes under market control, and that controlled marketing has cost the consumers a definite increase in their household budgets. If the producers were getting all of this increase, there might at least be sympathetic claims for market control. It begins to be increasingly evident, however, that the producers are not satisfied with the plan, and that there has developed a new spread between what produce is worth on the farm and what the consumer pays for it.

In the single instance cited, there may be some explanation for deductions bringing returns down to twenty-five and a fraction cents for a full sack of potatoes. If there is, the public would be glad to hear of it. Any merchant would look twice at a $2.83 cheque for $2.50 worth of goods.

WEAKNESS AND COWARDICE

The attempt in Alberta to discipline, regulate, control and censor the Press is an effort to destroy a freedom which has maintained in British lands since 1605. It is a freedom the winning of which was contributed to, at least in a measure, by Areopagitica, by John Milton, a work which is the finest defence of the written word ever penned. The great poet, in the wealth of his imagination and in the probity of his outlook, was willing "that all the winds of doctrine should be let loose to play upon the earth and so but Truth be in the field, we do injuriously by licensing and prohibiting to maddout her strength." He was willing that she and falsehood should grapple, and, "whoever knew Truth put to the worst, in a free and open encounter?" In one memorable passage of his Areopagitica Milton said:

"When a man hath been laboring the hardest labor in the deep mines of knowledge, hath furnished out his findings in all their equipage, drawn forth his reasons as it were a battle ranged, scattered and defeated all objections in his way, calls out his adversary into the plain, offers him the advantage of wind and sun, if he please, only that he may try the matter by dint of argument; for his opponents then to skulk, to lay ambushments, to keep a narrow bridge of licensing where the challenger should pass, though it be valor enough in soldiership, is but weakness and cowardice in the wars of truth. For who knows not that Truth is strong, next to the Almighty; she needs no policies, nor stratagems, nor licensings to make her victorious; those are the shifts and the defences that error uses against her power."

ORGANIZED APPLAUSE

There is make believe in radio broadcasting as there is in the film industry. The story is told of a speaker in an Ontario town in the late election campaign who, when he arrived at his meeting, found a little group of boys in front and a few men in the gallery. He called those in the gallery to sit in front and instructed the meagre audience in the technique of applause with the object of creating a good impression on the radio audience. He even told his hearers what were the particular phrases to applaud and that certain movements of his arms were to evoke the loudest noise of "appreciation."

This is what The Ottawa Journal calls "a peculiarly cheap and shabby way of trying to misrepresent to radio audiences the real spirit and tone of political meetings." Surely this is a matter over which the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should exercise some control. It has the authority, and, moreover, it has the reputation of national broadcasting to protect. It should not be a party to fooling the people.

MINORITY GOVERNMENT

Tabulation of the Ontario election returns by the Canadian Press disclosed that Liberals, with sixty-three seats in the Legislature, secured less than half of the ballots of the people. The compilation, though incomplete, gave 638,412 ballots to the Liberal administration, and 501,101 to Conservative opponents, exclusive of negligible totals to other parties and to independents.

Premier Hepburn, in a post-election speech, attributed the return of his administration to the stand taken by himself against domination of Canadian labor by left-wing forces from south of the international border, and not by virtue of any express policies of the Ontario Liberal regime itself.

The Ontario general election duplicates the British Columbia general election, in that a sitting administration was returned in each Province with overwhelming support in the Legislature, and yet lacking the majority support of the people. Administrations so placed would be well advised to remember that fact, and to walk circumspectly at all times.

Dr. L. P. Jacks, perhaps one of the world's foremost thinkers, does not subscribe to the doctrine of an international police force as an instrument of collective security. He says: "Of all the media for a project of co-operation, this is the very worst that could be chosen; and for two main reasons: First, because any compact framed in that medium is certain to break down when fulfillment is called for; and second, because being co-operation in the devil's business, it will effectually prevent co-operation in the business of any other deity."

There is a shortage of skilled labor in Great Britain, also a shortage of recruits for the Army, and now the Civil Service is complaining of a shortage of human material. Where there are enough jobs to go round there ought to be no unemployment, except among those disabled for work. The latter-day flair for vocational training ought to be the solvent of the employment problem.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

The office of the Chief Censor of Parliamentary News in the State of Canada was simply but tastefully furnished. In a bowl on the mantelpiece, beside an eighty-eight-day clock and a cornucopia pipe, was a hush showing of Prairie flowers, honestly predominating. Assistant censors had gone through the morning papers with a fine tooth comb, but so well trained were these journalists that only a few suspicious items had been found. These they reserved for the chief censor. Anon he came, picking up the cuttings, and reading them carefully.

"This one from the Blade is out—dead out. It states: Thomas McShiggins, third assistant janitor at the Parliament Buildings, said yesterday that the Attorney-General was arriving at his office five minutes late in the morning these days." It is true that it states the source of the information, as necessarily required, but we cannot allow any act of espionage on a Minister of the Crown. Ring up the Blade and tell them to make-over. Tell 'em from me that they cannot get away with that stuff!"

"Now, here is a radio script that seems admirable. I don't see why you held up this one. It's perfect. Listen: 'There has been no trouble in Canada since the Prairie Flower administration took over the reins of office. The new censorship of the press has been admirably conducted. The chief censor, in particular, has been indefatigable in the discharge of his onerous duties. His relations with the press are on a sure footing, and no longer do we see stories published without any authority.' What is wrong with that?" queried the chief censor.

"It's tone is excellent, of course, but it does not state the source of its information," the first assistant chief censor replied.

"Oh, but we can fix that. Here, just insert the name of the Minister of Propaganda at the bottom, and put the whole thing in quotation marks," the chief censor ordered.

"Haden't we better ask him first, chief?" It was the second assistant chief censor who spoke, out of turn as it happened.

"Ask him? What the dickens do you mean. If I say so isn't that sufficient? Mind your step, young fellow; let's have no more of this capitalistic nonsense out of you!" the chief censor thundered, glaring at the offender balefully. The telephone eased a tense moment.

"Yes, yes, this is the office of the chief censor; who is speaking? Oh, the Attorney-General. What! You fired the third assistant janitor over that item in the Blade. He objects, does he? I like his nerve. Well, rest assured, Sir, there will be no reference to the dismissal in the afternoon papers. No, no; nor on the radio either. Why should there be? It's not news. Of course we could play it up as an act of sabotage on his part. You'd rather not; well, perhaps you are right. Indeed, if I may say so, Sir, you always are right. Thank you, thank you; your sentiments are cordially reciprocated here. Yes, Sir; certainly, Sir; we'll do just that. Ye-es, Sir—r-r!"

Rubbing his hands, the chief censor passed the balance of the items with minor deletions or insertions, and got down properly to his morning's work. It concerned the development of a field-service telegraph form for parliamentary news correspondents, patterned after the uncensored green postcards Tommies had used at the front. In place of the "I am well, I am wounded—I got your socks, your cardigan, your muffler," etc., the uncensored dispatch forms for correspondents had to be specially worked out to cover all possible contingencies of reporting.

It was a neat arrangement, the chief censor told himself. On the first line, followed by the necessary blanks for insertions, was the standing line: "The Prairie Flower administration was successful today in its fight against—." Then followed a choice of phrases, one of which could be ticked by the correspondent to describe the facts. These included "economic royalists," "die-hard reactionaries," "the capitalist press" and well-known enemies of the State of Canada, right down to "bankers' friends," the ultimate in infamy.

The second line was devoted to a statement of authority. It began with the formal assertion, in blank, that "This statement is published on the written authority of the Honorable the Minister of —," with alternate selections for the warrant of the chief censor, the first assistant chief censor, and so on, depending on the gravity and importance of the news. There was also a line to say if the statement had been made on the Sabbath or on a weekday, because there is a difference, you know.

Right at the bottom the correspondent would be permitted to sign his name, after taking the statutory declaration required of all correspondents, that they supported the policies of the administration without any reservation. Elsewhere on the telegraph blank, however, writing would not be permitted, or else the message would require the approval of the board of censors before filing. As the chief censor glanced it, the field service telegraph form could be filled out by a correspondent in three seconds and would report adequately all that the public needed to know about their government in any given period.

The sole difficulty, he found, came in the wide diversity of items which might be termed news. The draft form was already fourteen pages long, with fresh contingencies occurring to his fertile mind at an alarming rate. Resourceful in all things, the chief censor foresaw that by numbering the responses he could save the government from a simple numerical code. Indeed, he reflected, a government broadcast of the code numbers might be better than anything, and would save papers the cost of maintaining correspondents entirely.

Satisfied with a good job, the chief censor bundled the result of his labors into a brief case and went off to see the Minister of Propaganda. Later, the Minister issued a formal statement over the facts. It read: "The Prairie Flower administration was successful today in its fight against 23-14-7-23."

COMMUNITY CHEST

Sir—In your Saturday's issue of The Colonist, the various welfare agencies were advertised which are constituted on the Community Chest plan. Others along with me would like to know what the Jubilee Hospital is not listed as one of the twenty-three welfare agencies worthy of getting help with funds.

St. Joseph's heads the list. People who can afford it only can get to St. Joseph's, otherwise often they are sent to the Jubilee. It is the less fortunate that get to the latter, which should by Christians get the first consideration.

SPIRITUAL EDUCATION

Sir—Is it refreshing to find the people of British Columbia so wide awake and independent in their views of what constitutes true education.

Newspaper correspondents are supplying evidence that a large number of thinking people view with concern the lack of attention being given to the spiritual side of this important subject. As President Moody, of Middleboro College, said, "To increase a man's knowledge without touching his heart is to play with fire. It only increases his danger to society." Five days a week secular education, and an hour or two on Sundays touching the surface of spiritual knowledge, cannot be regarded as a balanced education. Such an education will never provide a way of escape from successive crime waves, graft and international jealousies. It cannot even give the individual student the confidence, hope and courage requisite to make a success of the temporal affairs of one life. Why is it that a very much larger proportion of graduates from Seventh-Day Adventist colleges, for instance, and got down properly to his morning's work. It concerned the development of a field-service telegraph form for parliamentary news correspondents, patterned after the uncensored green postcards Tommies had used at the front. In place of the "I am well, I am wounded—I got your socks, your cardigan, your muffler," etc., the uncensored dispatch forms for correspondents had to be specially worked out to cover all possible contingencies of reporting.

It was a neat arrangement, the chief censor told himself. On the first line, followed by the necessary blanks for insertions, was the standing line: "The Prairie Flower administration was successful today in its fight against—." Then followed a choice of phrases, one of which could be ticked by the correspondent to describe the facts. These included "economic royalists," "die-hard reactionaries," "the capitalist press" and well-known enemies of the State of Canada, right down to "bankers' friends," the ultimate in infamy.

The second line was devoted to a statement of authority. It began with the formal assertion, in blank, that "This statement is published on the written authority of the Honorable the Minister of —," with alternate selections for the warrant of the chief censor, the first assistant chief censor, and so on, depending on the gravity and importance of the news. There was also a line to say if the statement had been made on the Sabbath or on a weekday, because there is a difference, you know.

Right at the bottom the correspondent would be permitted to sign his name, after taking the statutory declaration required of all correspondents, that they supported the policies of the administration without any reservation. Elsewhere on the telegraph blank, however, writing would not be permitted, or else the message would require the approval of the board of censors before filing. As the chief censor glanced it, the field service telegraph form could be filled out by a correspondent in three seconds and would report adequately all that the public needed to know about their government in any given period.

The sole difficulty, he found, came in the wide diversity of items which might be termed news. The draft form was already fourteen pages long, with fresh contingencies occurring to his fertile mind at an alarming rate. Resourceful in all things, the chief censor foresaw that by numbering the responses he could save the government from a simple numerical code. Indeed, he reflected, a government broadcast of the code numbers might be better than anything, and would save papers the cost of maintaining correspondents entirely.

Satisfied with a good job, the chief censor bundled the result of his labors into a brief case and went off to see the Minister of Propaganda. Later, the Minister issued a formal statement over the facts. It read: "The Prairie Flower administration was successful today in its fight against 23-14-7-23."

It's Hard to Save

There are many ways to save money, if you are able to spare any out of the average meagre earnings. Some persons regularly drop into banks and walk out with pleased smiles as they contemplate their pass books. Others keep a jar on the mantel, a tobacco tin behind the bookshelf, or even the proverbial sock with toe carefully darned. The advantage of a bank is safety. But there are times when a cheque is hard to cash. Money kept at home may be subject to pilfering or the perils of being mislaid. On the other hand it is easily available in time of need. We know a girl who holds a responsible position in a department store and saves money in a novel manner. She keeps a small tin in her tiny office and drops five or ten cents in every time she utters a profane word, whether it is out loud or under her breath. One a small bank in the form of a metal dog. It is known as "George's bank," after the family cat. The tradition is that George will save them enough for a Christmas celebration. We hope the feline does not let them down. Horace told us the simplest way to save money is to turn over to his wife who makes haste to the bank before he borrows it back.—G.B.

The Reckless Driver
Four members of a service club were chatting over lunch, and the topic of discussion was the ever-green question of what to do about the reckless driver and the equally careless cyclist and pedestrian. Each of the four had his own pet complaint to voice, but as is so often the case, they seemed unable to agree upon a solution. Every country must solve its own problems, but one can often profit by the experiences of others. In some parts of the United States there are schools for reckless drivers. For a second breach of the traffic laws, the court may order the delinquent to attend a night school of traffic instruction and be passed as efficient before his suspended licence will be renewed. In one of the British Dominions motorists are required to have the brakes, steering gear and lights of their cars tested by an official every three months. If the equipment complies in every particular with the requirements of the regulations, a certificate of fitness is issued for the vehicle, and must be shown on demand by a police or traffic officer. Failure to produce a valid certificate is in itself an offence. It is recognized, of course, that the fact that brakes are in good order today is no guarantee that they will act efficiently tomorrow; but at least the quarterly tests insure that defective equipment does not go uncorrected for a long period.—R.M.

In keeping the flag of better journalism flying in the wilds of the Tulameen, David reports that two seasoned woodsmen on China Creek had their cache of butter and bacon disturbed by a bear. Next morning, before sun-up, the bear crashed through their front window, presumably to seek the comfort of a warm bunk. The woodsmen were forced to open fire with their rifles before the intruder left. . . . Mention is made of the incident since it seemingly has escaped notice in public prints with greater circulation than The Star.—B.G.

Glancing Over Sport
Do you know that Jacob Gill Gaudaur, a veteran oarsman, who held the world's rowing title in 1896 when he beat Jim Stanbury, of Australia, and held it five years after that, rowed along with a fellow named Billy O'Connor in Victoria against Ned Hanlon and Hosmer in a double event in 1894? Gaudaur died the other day at Orillia, Ontario, at the age of seventy-nine. . . . One of the fallacies exploded by the Yankees in the world series was that they couldn't hit left-handed pitching. They knocked Hubbell out of the box once and Melton twice. Furthermore, they hit all four of their homers off Giant southpaws. Gehrig nicked Hubbell for his, Hoag and Dimaggio found the range off Melton and Lazzari got his off young Al Smith. . . . When the time comes Manager Joe McCarthy will be rewarded with a new contract calling for $35,000 per year, which means he will be the highest-paid boss in the majors. . . . Jimmy Todd, ace of Victoria golfers, who swings from the wrong side as golf goes, the port side, could have easily finished with a sixty-four on Sunday in that match. He took a five on the fourteenth after a mighty tee shot and then took another five on the sixteenth. What a great golfer this left-hander really is.—J.D.

First Ships of Arctic Whaling Fleet at Halifax

HALIFAX, Oct. 13 (P).—First of a fleet of seven whalers, Stina and Santa, arrived today from the Arctic, just a few hours ahead of their 13,000-ton mother ship, the New Sevilla.

The entire fleet will meet the New Sevilla here, and whale oil and meat will be transferred for trans-Atlantic shipment. The fleet of small but sturdy whalers has been in Arctic waters since April. The Stina's catch totaled eighty whales.

route from the United States to Alaska via Alberta, Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

The conference is under the joint auspices of the city of Lethbridge and the Lethbridge Board of Trade. Edmonton delegates came by plane. Calgary is also represented. Two large planes carrying about twenty delegates, including Mayor Weurthner, came from Great Falls, Montana. States represented by the delegates include Utah, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and Wyoming.

Development of the Great Falls-Lethbridge and White Horse-Fairbanks legs of the north-south route would, in the opinion of the delegates, give a complete air service from all parts of the United States to Alaska as soon as the Lethbridge-Calgary-Edmonton branch of the Trans-Canada Airways goes into operation next year.

Delegates gathered at luncheon at noon, and went into conference to prepare plans for the development of the route during an afternoon session.

HARBOR HEADS MEET IN EAST

Canadian and American Port Officials Discuss Problems of Management

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 13 (P).—Officials of Canadian and American harbors outlined problems of port management today at the convention of the American Association of Port Authorities.

R. O. Campney, chairman of the Harbor Board of Canada, told of some observations of the work of national harbors of Canada, while Smith W. Wilson, president of the Seattle Port Commission discussed the practical application of uniformity to port terminal rates and practices.

Ernest B. Bengier, general assistant chemical director of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company, predicted that the revolution in methods of land and air travel inevitably will reach the construction of ships. In an address before the association yesterday, use of new materials in shipbuilding "will make the most up-to-date vessel now on the seas appear hopelessly antiquated and outclassed," he said.

LINER WILL LAND CARGO

Advices received by W. M. Allan, local agent for the American Mail Line, last evening, stated the Ss. President Jackson, Captain Morris Seavey, U.S.N.R., commander, would reach William Head at 5 o'clock this morning, inbound from the Philippines by way of China and Japan points. Mr. Allan said the ship would dock at 7 o'clock and commence discharging approximately 1,000 tons of general cargo, most of which is for overland routing.

The Jackson will be here several hours and will continue to Seattle on the completion of business here.

With a time limit of seventy days to complete the work, the contract for repairs to the Norwegian Ms. Soloy, which was badly damaged on Thormanby Island, was yesterday awarded to the Burrard Drydock Company, Vancouver, the price named being $195,000. The damage to the Soloy was quite extensive, and practically the whole hull forward of the engine-room will have to be rebuilt, a total of seventy-three plates having to be replaced.

Tenders for the repair job were opened on Monday and immediately submitted to the owners, Yarrows, Limited, Esquimalt, submitted a bid for the work. The Soloy is 381 feet long, fifty-foot beam and 4,402 registered tons.

MAIDEN VOYAGE

The sailing schooner Elinor H., owned by the Harbor Navigation Company, Hoquiam, Wash., left Grays Harbor recently for Adelaide with 1,635,015 feet of lumber aboard. The Elinor was drawing nearly twenty-two feet of water when she crossed the bar.

The sailing of the schooner Elinor is of special interest all along the Pacific Coast at this time, when lumber cargoes are becoming more and more paramount with the general unsettling of trade conditions.

NEW STEAM ENGINE

Reports coming from Europe state that a new type of steam engine is being tested in the shops of Deschimag A-G Weser, Bremen. The new engine unit consists of a three-cylinder steam engine with a Bauer-Wach turbine added as a fourth stage, and it develops 1,100 horsepower. The steam is raised under very high pressure and high superheat temperature in a Weser-Wach boiler plant. The economy of the new plant is, according to tests, about 40 per cent better than a standard triple-expansion engine and some 18 per cent better than the best reciprocating engine combined with the Bauer-Wach turbine.

Workroom Names Mrs. Alan Morkill As New President

Splendid Financial Statement and Outline of Work
And Sewing Completed by Women During
Year Presented at Annual Meeting

MRS. Alan Morkill was elected president of the Women's Workroom at the annual meeting held last night at the Union Building. She succeeds Mrs. L. A. Genge, who has held the office for the past two years.

Mrs. McGachen was named vice-president. Mrs. L. A. Genge, treasurer, reported receipts amounting to $11,150.86, of which $3,191.50 were cash donations, $3,699.30 from city direct relief, $803.52 Saanich relief, and $139.00 Oak Bay relief. Sundries amounted to $847.45.

Sales from the workroom and shop amounted to $2,450.49. Wages paid to women in the workroom totaled $7,820, salaries $1,020, material $289.90 and general expense $310.02, making the total disbursements $9,439.92.

A splendid report on the Women's Workroom was presented by Mrs. J. W. Gibson, vice-president. The workroom has completed six years of active work. Money received each month from the direct relief and from subscribers had been supplemented by gifts of new material at the annual shower and by donations of used clothing from homes.

At present there are forty-seven women in the rooms, ten on special orders and others on the routine jobs of mending and rug making, etc. The women receive twenty cents per hour for working day of four hours and wages are paid each day. The hospitals and homes in cases of illness were visited by members of the committee.

To all who assisted in the success of the workroom and its undertakings and socials during the year, sincere thanks and appreciation were expressed.

After a short session in the patrol dens, instruction in first-class Morse signalling by the assistant scoutmaster and second-class semaphore by the scoutmaster took place.

A "charades" game followed, in which each patrol had to act a scene portraying a recent song title or movie title. The best scene, judged by the entire troop, was the Owl Patrol's, entitled "When I Grow Too Old to Dream." Following the closing ceremonies, there was a P.L.'s court of honor, at which plans for a carnival country fair, to be held in December, were discussed. New recruits welcomed to the troop recently were Billy Robinson and Don Anderson. Pat Coyle, a former Philippine Island Scout, has also been transferred to the troop and Rover crew.

MRS. ALAN MORKILL

tried to do more for it. His was a lovable nature and he leaves not one personal enemy behind. His loss will be a severe one to the community, the province and the Dominion. To the members of his family I extend my deepest sympathy in their great sorrow.

MRS. S. R. BOWDEN
Mrs. S. R. Bowden, president of the Women's Conservative Association:

"I am sure the citizens of Victoria and of the province will very deeply regret the passing of our former Premier and late Member of the House of Commons for Victoria. He was one of the most popular of men, and contributed much to the development of British Columbia and the Dominion, especially during his term as Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa. His loss will be keenly felt, and the Conservative women extend to the members of his family our sincerest sympathy in their bereavement."

W. C. MORESBY, K.C.
W. C. Moresby, K.C., chairman of the Victoria Board of School Trustees:

"The passing of Dr. Tolmie is a great shock to me personally and to the citizens of this city. His death removes a valued resident from our midst, and his loss will be keenly felt in the Dominion field. He was well loved by all, and his abilities were recognized at Ottawa, where he served Canada for several years as a Minister of the Crown, and in British Columbia, which he served faithfully as Premier during a most troubled period."

DUNCAN MACBRIDE
Duncan MacBride, acting president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce:

"In the passing of Dr. Tolmie, British Columbia, the Dominion, and Victoria especially, have suffered a heavy loss. To all matters pertaining to the well-being and development of the province, he gave devoted service, and his sincerity for him the affection of all sections of this community."

"The Victoria Chamber of Commerce, in Dr. Tolmie, has lost a representative at Ottawa who, because of the high esteem in which he was held by all members of the Government, was of inestimable assistance to the many important matters affecting Victoria in which the chamber was engaged. His genial personality and sincere disinterested service will be a loss to all, and his place in the public affairs of this community will, indeed, be hard to fill."

ROBERT D. HARVEY
Robert D. Harvey, president of Victoria Conservative Association:

"The passing of the Hon. Dr. S. P. Tolmie was a great personal shock. In his death the public life of Canada suffered a great loss. For many years he played a most prominent part in the important affairs of this country. He held high office, both Federally and provincially, and in his political career attained not only great honors, but a place in the minds and hearts of the people of his native province and throughout Canada. His place in public life will be exceedingly hard to fill."

army troops today claimed two major victories—capture of Kwethwating, capital of Suiyuan Province, and trapping of 100,000 Chinese troops in a swampy funnel of land between the Peking-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways.

The Suiyuan capital was said to have fallen to units advancing from the east in co-operation with Mongol units from the north, who scattered Kweichow's defenders in zero-weather fighting.

Trapping of the 100,000 Chinese in the flooded Oran swamps was acclaimed as a spectacular military feat. Kwantung army officers admitted they would be unable to press it to completion by annihilating the enemy forces.

Lack of artillery and remoteness from their bases will force the Japanese to leave a way out for their trapped foe, they said.

After sixty days of night and day fighting into which the Japanese have flung warships, field artillery, tanks, cavalry and more than 130,000 infantry troops they have been unable to break through an inspired Chinese human wall here.

Foreign military observers for some time have been convinced the Japanese must smash the Chinese line stretching about twenty-five miles northwest from Shanghai's North Station to Lotien swiftly or effect new, costly troop landings.

Japanese estimated Chinese casualties at nearly 80,000—1,000 a day—with Chinese wounded three times that figure. The Chinese officially admit 30,000 killed and approximately 55,000 wounded.

The Japanese admit they have lost 4,100 killed and many times that number wounded.

The Japanese left more than 3,000 dead and wounded in a disastrous attempt to crash through the Chinese lines across Wentaoapang Creek into Tazang, four miles northwest of the International Settlement, a Chinese spokesman declared.

Wedding at Chemainus Attractive

Calvary Baptist Church, Chemainus, artistically decorated by friends of the bride, with wedding arch of golden chrysanthemums and Mistletoe, was the scene of the wedding ceremony for the marriage, on Monday afternoon, of Dorothy Edith, youngest daughter of Mrs. A. M. Murray, Chemainus, and Mr. Bernard John Lawless, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lawless, Duncan.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. M. Cook.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. W. Murray, the bride entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mr. H. Drainey. Mrs. Lawless wore black crepe with touches of white, small black hat, and a corsage bouquet of white roses.

The bride's table was covered with a beautiful crocheted flannel banquet cloth, the work of Mrs. R. Robertson, the eighty-year-old grandmother of the bride. The three-tier wedding cake was flanked by tall white tapers in silver sconces. Mrs. J. D. Long poured tea, while several of the bride's young friends served.

Empress Tea Will Include Art Exhibit

An innovation in Saturday teas, which make the Empress Hotel always a popular rendezvous, is an art exhibit tea on Saturday, the initial occasion of the Fall season. At the art exhibit tea, the work of two strikingly different British Columbia artists will be on display. One, Miss Kay Earle, Vancouver; the other, Mr. C. W. Holliday, Armstrong.

AMAZING VERSATILITY

Miss Earle's work, which has attracted attention throughout the West, displays an amazing versatility. It includes water colors, flower pieces, water color and pencil portraits and needlecraft. Of the latter, belts and cushions in petit point and cross stitch, although in black cross stitch, all net a quota of interest; but her most ambitious work on these lines probably is an embroidered colorful map of modern Vancouver in the finest petit point stitch, complete with such up-to-date detail as Major Austin Taylor's horse, Indian Broom, and the new City Hall; this was purchased in August by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber. Though now in Vancouver, Mrs. Hamber is graciously making every effort to have it brought here in time for the exhibit.

Miss Earle, who exhibited recently at the Vancouver Art Gallery, has several enchanting baby portraits in water colors, and some pencil portraits. Her flower pieces are a delight not only to lovers of artistic achievement but to horticulturists, combining as they do something of quaint botanical truthfulness associated with Audubon with modern technique.

Young, original, intensely hard working, a former pupil of G. W. G. MacDonald, whose work has made the Eastern Galleries and the Vancouver Art School, Miss Earle bids fair to become one of Canada's better known artists.

At the Theatres

SWASHBUCKLING TALE AT CAPITOL

Film "The Prisoner of Zenda" Co-
Stars Ronald Colman and Madeleine Carroll

"The Prisoner of Zenda," Anthony Hope's swashbuckling tale of love, intrigue and adventure in the courts of Europe, opens today at the Capitol Theatre, with Ronald Colman, Madeleine Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. in the leading roles.

Colman has the dual role of the adventurous Rudolf Rassendyll and the roistering King Rudolf V, whom he so closely resembles, while Madeleine Carroll is cast as the lovely Princess Flavia.

In a role which gives him plenty of opportunity to show his talent, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will probably prove the surprise of the show with his spirited acting.

C. Aubrey Smith, who during his long stage career played every role in "The Prisoner of Zenda," has a part in the screen play, as have David Niven and Mary Astor.

DORIS NOLAN IS NEW SCREEN FIND

"The Man I Marry" Introduces Popular Personality From Broadway Successes

"The Man I Marry," a rollicking romantic comedy from Universal Studios, starts a three-day run at the Plaza Theatre today.

The star of the picture is Doris Nolan, a flaming new screen personality who previously scored a hit on the Broadway stage in "Night of January 16th."

The story relates the adventures of a girl who runs away from one wedding, to get entangled in romance with a man who resents the idea that women should shape his destiny. The humor of the picture revolves about the resulting conflict between these central figures. Further comedy is contributed by three outstanding comedians, "Chic" Sale, Skeets Gallagher and Cliff Edwards.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE AT ATLAS TODAY

Curly-Headed Child Star Soars to
New Heights in Kipling's
"Wee Willie Winkie"

Journalistic history was made—and the growing importance of Shirley Temple as a world figure was recognized—when Father Silvio Masante, O. S. J., interviewed the curly-headed child star recently for L'Osservatore Romano, official newspaper of the Vatican.

It was the first time that a motion picture personage ever had been interviewed for this important newspaper. Father Masante, who is stationed at Sacramento, Cal., went to Hollywood and thence was taken to the Chatsworth location lot, where Shirley was working with the Twentieth Century-Fox unit, filming Rudyard Kipling's "Wee Willie Winkie," opening at the Atlas Theatre today.

"PICCADILLY JIM" NOW AT OAK BAY

Robert Montgomery Has Starring
Role in Laugh Riot Written
By P. G. Wodehouse

One of the most uproarious laugh riots of the year comes to the Oak Bay screen starting today, with the release of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Piccadilly Jim," starring Robert Montgomery.

Of all the hilarious comedies written by the brilliant British humorist, P. G. Wodehouse, "Piccadilly Jim," has been proclaimed the funniest.

Directed by Robert Z. Leonard, who made "The Great Zerkow," the new picture gives Montgomery and Miss Evans a stellar supporting cast that includes a new comedy team, Frank Morgan and Billie Burke, in addition to Eric Robes, Robert Benchley, Ralph Forbes, Cora Witherspoon, Grant Mitchell, Aileen Pringle and Billy Bevan.

CHINESE OPERETTA TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW

The Chinese Catholic Mission of Vancouver will present a tawny two-act operetta, "The Feast of the Little Lanterns," in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy here, tomorrow and Saturday.

The operetta tells a delightful story of old China, and contains altogether fourteen delightful songs to the accompaniment of the tones of the gong and tom-tom. It has a cast that is entirely Chinese, against a background of beautiful Oriental scenery and rich Chinese costumes that take one back in fancy to the golden age of a great people.

The beautiful and talented star, Miss Myrtle Wong, takes the leading part in the person of the Princess Chan. Clad in the regal robes of ancient Imperial China and seated upon the dragon throne, she presents a very charming picture, with an exquisite rendering of such pieces as "O Beautiful" and "On a Day Long Ago."

Dr. MacDonald said the Government would await the outcome of the proposed appeal to the Privy Council at London by the producers, an appeal the ministry is prepared to meet in defence of the existing statute. Until that issue is settled, the Government will neither open up the act nor repeal it, Dr. MacDonald declared.

VISITING INTERIOR

The minister left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, where today he will meet members of the Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board, before going on to Kamloops and Nicola to study grasshopper control efforts in the Interior.

The Government, it was privately learned, has turned aside proposals advanced by T. G. Norris, K.C., that consumers be added to commodity boards in control of British Columbia produce. This, it was pointed out, would mean a reopening of the act, which the Province is not at present prepared to do.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Oct. 13
Dr. E. J. Lyons said today he believed amputation would not be needed to assure recovery of James Bailey, twenty-five-year-old Prince George resident, whose heels were shot off yesterday by a companion's shotgun.

Police reports said Bailey and "Bob" Jackson, seventeen, of Prince George, had been hunting. Returning home, Jackson's gun accidentally discharged, striking Bailey's heels at close range.

CHAPTER LIX

Jerry lifted the hand that rested on his shoulder and looked at him. "I love you, Polly," he said, softly. "But Polly made a face at him and withdrew her hand. "One thing at a time," she smiled, "and that done well, you know. What happened after you took the automatic to Mr. Fordell's? You didn't stay long, did you?"

"No," Jerry replied. "But I can tell you what Fordell did after I left. He opened the evening paper, punched a hole in it with a pencil, put the gun in his pocket and went out to the living-room where he pulled the chair around facing the door and sat down. . . . How do I know? Because you found him so when you came in with Tod, sitting there with the paper opened wide before him. People don't read papers like that; they fold them. Besides, the light wasn't on his paper—it was on the door where he wanted it, the door he was watching through that small hole in the paper. The pencil hole was one of the first things I noticed when we were looking at that twisted newspaper lying by Fordell's desk. Fordell was expecting a visitor, in all probability Garbrook. And he was prepared to do some straight talking and maybe a little straight shooting.

"All right, back to Cleaves. . . . By the way," Jerry asked, "do you know why he decided to call himself Angus Garbrook? Because there is a writer by that name, and he was once a detective in New York. He writes slick mystery and I eat it up. Cleaves read about him somewhere and 'hooked the name. Intending to drop it again the minute he left the island. That's what he meant when you heard him tell Evelyn: 'Garbrook leaves tomorrow and you'll never see him again,' or something like that. And if Carter's man had taken him from the bridge to the hospital that last night, that would have been the last of the Angus Garbrook we knew. I don't know what he planned to do, but he certainly had it all figured out for a fast getaway and no tell-tale clues behind him.

"But now," Jerry said, "let's follow Cleaves through to the end. He took the 'Frog Baby' statuette while you and Fordell were behind the study door—and tucked it away in the back of the radio cabinet. When I was fooling around with the radio after Sheila complained of static, I found a distinct circle in the thick dust on the floor of the cabinet, about the size, I judged, of the bottom of the figure when separated from the base.

"And you think," Polly asked doubtfully, "he took the 'Frog Baby' just to have it handy as a weapon?"

"He probably did it as a joke, but when he learned of the missing formula, he saw a chance to gain access to the study, to dig around for those two insurance policies. You and Fordell, you recall, went to lunch soon after and left him there alone. The chances are he went through everything in the room.

"Later that afternoon, Marco told Fordell he had it straight that Garbrook was Cleaves and, an hour or two later Garbrook had that information from Evelyn and knew he must either leave the island in a hurry or remove Fordell and Marco from the picture. And being smart, he figured it out so that Marco would not only be murdered but would be hunted as the man who had killed Fordell. Remember my telling you Marco had probably received an anonymous message tipping him off to a plot to kill Fordell? That wasn't a bad guess. The police found such a note in Marco's pocket. Marco was wise to Garbrook and with any brains at all, he would have known Garbrook had written the note; but Marco, the ex-gangster, had the intelligence of a six-year-old. Innocently, he climbed up the ladder and left his fingerprints on the ladder and the window sill—and he hurried up to the old fort where Garbrook knocked him unconscious, stretched him out behind the grenade boxes and put a blade through his heart."

Polly remembered his telling her all that. Then it had seemed fantastic. Now she asked: "Why did he leave the body there, Jerry? I mean, if he was so anxious that the police never find it, why didn't he take it out in his boat then and there?"

"You forget," Jerry smiled, "that he still had to take care of Fordell."

"But he didn't have to kill Fordell immediately."

"Oh, but he did. If Marco was to be suspected of the murder, he wanted Marco to disappear the same night Fordell was murdered. And then there was Evelyn to be thought of. Every life insurance policy carries a clause to the effect that the policy will not be paid if the beneficiary criminally causes or contributes to the death of the insured. He had to protect Evelyn and he had already provided her with an alibi. When Fordell was killed, if you recall, Evelyn and Sheila were at the movies. After it was all over, I learned from Sheila that Garbrook had bought their tickets, originally saying he was going along but later offering some excuse.

"So Garbrook," Jerry continued, "goes back to the house. To kill Fordell, of course. Fordell has at last given up his vigil in the living-room and gone to his desk in the study. You come down to the living-room and stand by the door for a moment. Tod calls you and you go back upstairs. In all probability it was Garbrook's intention to stab Fordell as he had Marco. But as he enters the living-room, he suddenly remembers the 'Frog Baby' and an idea is born. Fordell's newspaper lay in the chair where Fordell had been sitting. Garbrook takes the bronze figure from behind the radio, wraps it in the newspaper and steps into the study."

Polly was seeing it all now. Fordell is sitting at his desk. He looks up and sees Garbrook coming toward the desk with something in his arms, something wrapped in newspaper. Fordell knows that Garbrook is Cecil Cleaves now, the divorced husband of the woman to whom he, Fordell, is now married. He abuses Marco for telling him that, at first refused to believe it—but now he knows, because Evelyn has admitted the truth. Polly looked up, eyes wide.

"He must have known," she said, "that Garbrook had come there to kill him. Why didn't he use the automatic?"

"No," Jerry replied. "Fordell knew that Garbrook was Cleaves, but I don't think he even suspected that Garbrook knew he knew. But even so, I believe Fordell had the automatic in his hand when he was killed. Otherwise, why was the gun in the letter basket after he was killed? When I gave Fordell the gun, he put it in a drawer of the desk and I can't believe he would have put it in the basket where it could be seen by everyone who entered the study. Unfortunately, we have to guess what happened after Garbrook entered the study. What does Garbrook say? 'Well, I've recovered part of your stolen property, Mr. Fordell.' Something like that, as he crosses the room, smiling. He stands by the desk and pretends to be unwrapping the package. Fordell gets his hand on the automatic. He is about to tell Garbrook he knows who he is and order him to stay away from Evelyn. He starts to rise, but as he leans over the back of the head so that he falls forward on the desk as he would have fallen had he been struck by someone reaching in from the window.

"All right," Garbrook unwraps the figure, drops the paper on the floor, closes the study door after him and leaves the house. Now the body must be discovered while Evelyn is at the movies and while he can account for himself. He has seen you come downstairs and heard Tod call you upstairs. Reasonably, you'll be down again in a few minutes. But he wants to make sure of it. The report of a gun will bring you down. He fires off a gun of some sort and then takes up his stand near his place to see if it worked."

Polly looked down at her hands. "It worked, all right."

"Yes. In a few minutes you reappeared at the door, stepped out on the porch. Garbrook started toward the Fordell house, whistling. You went into the study and found Fordell dead. Garbrook comes in and begs the examination of the premises that presently leads to the ladder marks outside the study window. Then he pretends to see Marco—because he is going to tell the police that story about Marco going to his house in a highly nervous state and then vanishing."

FELT SHE COULD NOT LIVE OWING TO ARTHRITIS

Ailment Is Ended After Taking Harris' Wondro

Almost a cripple and unable to get a night's sleep for more than four months, Mrs. H. Horn, 2734 Shelbourne Street, Victoria, was so weakened that she felt she could not live before she started taking Harris' Wondro. You can read in the following letter in her own words how her condition was benefited by Harris' Wondro.

"Dear Sir—I suffered from arthritis for several years and received the best of attention but was told that very little could be done for me. I was so ill last Winter that I could not dress or undress myself and was in such a weak condition that I felt I could not live. I had not been able to have a night's sleep for four months and was almost a cripple.

"I met a friend, Mrs. West, last February, and she asked me to try Harris' Wondro. I did, and started my first bottle on the fifth day of March, and in two weeks began to feel the benefit from it. I continued and thought I would take it for one year but must say that the arthritis has almost gone. My limbs have gone back to their normal size and I feel so strong I can do all my own work and life is now a pleasure to me. I have recommended Harris' Wondro to many friends and relatives and have sent the address to my people in England. Last week I got three bottles for friends here in Saskatoon, in fact my friends have noticed such a remarkable change in me that they come and ask what I have done to get so well. My husband tells every man he meets who speaks of rheumatism or asthma about the change your medicine has made in me. I would be so glad if you would write me a letter for I want anyone who suffers from this dreadful complaint to know about Harris' Wondro.

—Mrs. H. Horn, 2734 Shelbourne Street, Victoria, B.C.

"The healing properties of Harris' Wondro are assimilated in the blood and are thereby circulated throughout the body, supplying needed elements to every weakened, run-down part of the system. Harris' Wondro is a herbal tonic that tones up the digestive system and aids the stomach, bringing relief and new strength. Order a treatment today!"

Harris' Wondro is for sale at all drug stores and is obtainable also in boxed capsule form. A bottle of Harris' Laxico, a medicine for constipation, is included free with every purchase of Harris' Wondro. If your druggist cannot supply you, order direct from George Harris & Son, Herbalists, Calgary. (Advt.)

What Today Means
"LIBRA"
 If October 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 2 to 4 p.m., and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 6 to 8 p.m., and from 10 p.m. until midnight.
 "Passing the buck" may be a favorite, but highly undesirable diversion this day, as it is likely to accomplish only condemnation for those who try it. Watch expenditures, for conditions are likely to exist conducive to leaks taking place in many unexpected ways. Some friends may need you to prove your friendship by more than lip service or advice, and if it is possible for you to do so, it might pay to do what you can to be of assistance. Self-righteousness may be responsible for a good many people this day, giving evidence of being egotists. Bluffs are liable to be called, so it will be good judgment not to try to put anything over by this means. Married and engaged couples, as well as those discussing the chances of their getting married, should be careful how they express themselves this day, for ambiguous remarks will be subject to wrong interpretations. If a woman and October 14 is your birthday, you may like to be the centre of attention because your dramatic instincts ought to be very strong. You are very loyal in your friendships and business affiliations. You are apt to have a great deal of power placed in your hands; be careful not to misuse it. If you will make a study of investments you are likely to find it time well spent. Your smile can be a great asset to you, so get into the habit of smiling, but bear in mind there is a great difference between a grip and a smile. Look out that jealousy does not cause you to see something with a jaundiced eye. Among the best mediums you may find through which to make plenty of money are: historical or statistical research work, acting, newspaper reporting, interior decorating and perhaps some activity requiring executive ability. You most likely will marry a man capable of making you very happy.

The child born on October 14, in all likelihood will be exceptionally truthful and diligent. From the time of adolescence on, it will have the gift of making friends. If a man and October 14 is your natal day, if you do not ignore your obligations, but concentrate on your work and realize courtesy costs nothing, you should be successful. The legal, medical, dental, theatrical or literary professions may enable you to see your dreams of wealth become true.

SALMONBELLIES WIN CANADIAN LACROSSE HONORS

Artist's Prince Scores Triumph In Old Country

Wins Cambridgeshire in Field of Twenty-Six, Including Heavily Backed Favorite, Dan Bulger, At Newmarket Track—Exciting Finish Witnessed—Red Squaw Is Second

NEWMARKET, Suffolk, Oct. 13.—In a close, thrilling finish, Major R. Glover's Artist's Prince, a four-year-old chestnut colt by Artist's Prince, won the Cambridgeshire Stakes, today won the ninety-eighth renewal of the Cambridgeshire Stakes.

Artist's Prince, starting at 13 to 1, defeated R. L. Gassop's Red Squaw by a neck, with W. H. Thorpe's Incketh a head back, in third place.

The heaviest favorite, Sir Abe Bailey's Dan Bulger, which won the race last year, was unplaced in the field of twenty-six.

He looked superb in the paddock and started at 17 to 2, but his weight—127 pounds—proved too much for him and he was well beaten. At no point was he able to get going well, and by the time "the bushes" were reached—far from the finish point—he was a beaten horse.

Artist's Prince, which drew a good post position near the stands, won cleverly, covering the one and one-eighth miles in 1:51. Johnnie Dines, the ex-jockey who trained the horse, had publicly tipped him as the winner, as he did not think any other candidates could concede the weight assigned him—ninety-four pounds.

EXCITING FINISH

The finish was the most exciting in years. The distances separating the first six horses were: neck, head, short head, head, neck, head. Artist's Prince only recently had been sold by Major Glover to Captain W. P. Aherne, whose wife owns another runner, Squadron Castle.

Red Squaw and Incketh both started at 25 to 1. The former, once named Blackgrass F., is a filly by Huffy On-Blackgrass. Incketh is a colt by Highborn II, out of Rackarock.

The going was fine and the attendance large. Mist restricted visibility to a half-mile from the finish, where Celestial Way, Edgell, Red Squaw and Artist's Prince appeared to be going best on the stand side of the course, with Fairplay on the far side and Squadron Castle, Daytona and Never Surprised in the middle.

Going down the hill, Incketh and Couvert were disputing the lead, with Fairplay, Artist's Prince, Lady of Shalott, Daytona, Zaimis and Red Squaw following closely. Entering the "dip," Couvert and Fairplay weakened and Artist's Prince went to the front.

Incketh challenged at the distance, but Artist's Prince held off well. Zaimis was fourth, Daytona fifth, Laureat II sixth, Lady of Shalott seventh, Thankerton eighth and Squadron Castle ninth. Kant II was last.

Artist's Prince and Incketh each carried two pounds overweight. The winning jockey, A. W. Richardson, previously had ridden eighty consecutive losers.

HEAVY BETTING

Bookmakers said it was one of the heaviest betting races in years, with fantastic amounts at stake. Although the favorite, Dan Bulger, was unplaced, they say it was a very bad race for them.

Artist's Prince is coupled in numerous 500-to-1 doubles with leading candidates for the Cesarewitch, to be run October 27.

Nadushka, third favorite with the bookmakers at 100 to 9, started favorite in the totalizer.

The winning owner, Major Glover, started owning horses only three months ago. He has but three horses altogether, and Artist's Prince is partly owned by Mrs. Dines, his trainer's wife. This is Dines' first season as a trainer.

Late scratches were Noble King, Moody, Pampas Grass, Streamstown, Scarlet Princess and Reward.

SEVERAL DOGS GAIN LAURELS

Many Championships Captured at Show Held at Crystal Garden

According to information received from Mrs. Chris Bloomfield, secretary of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, several dogs won their championships in the recent show held by the local kennel club.

Mrs. M. Constantine's Coats Cle, smart fox terrier, was one of the six to win championships at the V.I.D.F.A. show, held at the Crystal Garden. Coats Cle is an exceptionally smart little terrier out of champion imported Dunduff by champion Coats Cood. Two lovely cockers also made their championships, one owned by Mrs. B. Davidson, Jet of Moray, out of Weathercock of Ware imported, by Champion Sweetheart of Ware, and the other owned by W. T. Billy Oats, Beau Brummel, out of champion Holdfast Nil Desperandum by champion Loved One of Moray.

The beautiful English bulldog owned by Mrs. M. Mason, of Colwood, Westholm Swashbuckler, completed his championship as did several others. Mrs. Gladys Peers, whose Kerry blue terrier captured best in the show, also gained a championship with her lovely female Rose Marie's Kerry Lass, out of Knockoderry of Cheriton, by Rose Marie of Cheriton.

Mr. Bryce Gillespie made his Canadian championship with his American champion Scottie, Bothennar Fashion Plate. Mr. Gillespie sent his dog from Los Angeles to compete in the show, and he walked off with major honors.

MADISON SQUARE SCENE OF BURIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (P).—They sang "The Last Roundup" in Madison Square Garden at midnight funeral services for Walter Craven, twenty-nine-year-old cowboy from Butler, Okla., who was injured fatally last Saturday night at a rodeo performance in the same arena.

The casket containing the body that was trampled under the flying hooves of a steer was placed in the center of the arena after last night's performance.

Three hundred and fifty cowboys and girls heard Rev. Nathan A. Seagle, rector of St. Stephen's Church, read the Episcopal service after all rodeo spectators had departed.

The body will be sent to Butler, Okla., where Craven's mother and stepfather have a ranch.

MANY RECORDS SHATTERED BY TRACK STARS

Six Countries Credited With New Standards During Outdoor Season

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (P).—Although the big winter indoor season doesn't open until January, an off-season checkup on Summer track and field performances shows some interesting statistics.

A list of the outdoor season's best performances has been rounded up by The Amateur Athletic Union, and the list discloses that seven world records were shattered. Honors went to England, the United States, Finland, Sweden, Hungary and Ireland.

One of the records was 4:06.8 mile made by Stanley Wooderson, of England, in a paced trial, beating Glenn Cunningham's 4:08.8 standard. Archie San Romani's 4:07.2 was second best of the year.

One record that will not stand for any argument is the hammer throw of 198 ft., 8.5-in., credited to Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, beating the accepted record by more than nine feet. Then there was the dual feat of the Californians, Earle Meadows and Bill Sefton, in pole vaulting 14 ft., 11 in.

WORLD RECORDS

Other world-record breaking feats were Bob Osgood's stunt of running the high hurdles in fourteen seconds flat and Mel Walker's high jump of 6 ft., 10.3-in.

John Henry Jossion, of Sweden, and Miklos Szabo, of Hungary, ran 3,000 metres in 8:15.8 and 8:17.8, respectively, to beat the record of 8:18.4. Ilmari Salminen, of Finland, did 10,000 metres in 30:05.5, against a record of 30:06.2.

Three record-breaking and one record-equaling performance were not listed among the best because they had no chance for record approval. Ben Johnson, of New York, and Yoshioka, of Japan, both ran 100 metres in 16.2 seconds, and Adrian Talley did 100 yards in 10.4 with strong winds behind them. John Woodruff, long-striding Pittsburgh negro, was clocked in 1:47.8, two seconds under the world record, for 200 metres, only to learn the track was five feet short. That's only half a stride for him.

WILL MEET LEWIS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (P).—Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight, today accepted terms for a ten-round non-title bout in Pittsburgh, October 28, against John Henry Lewis, negro holder of the light-heavyweight championship.

Whitehead, who has been disciplined for overlooking training rules, the last time early in the regular American League campaign when he was suspended without pay, had his little troubles, but was at his best when the going was toughest.

Three times after they scored their lone run in the first inning, the National League started innings with hits, but the 12,457 hardy fans who attended the seventh and final game of the series saw little except Whitehead as he hauled himself out of trouble by use of the double-play ball.

Eager to Join Swimming Classes

Part of the crowd of 500 children who besieged the Crystal Garden office Tuesday, waiting to register in The Daily Colonist "Learn to Swim" Campaign. Within a few hours the entire number of tickets were taken up, and the classes proclaimed full. This campaign, absolutely free to the children, all between the ages of eight to twelve, will commence Monday, continuing for six weeks. Sponsored by The Daily Colonist, it will be carried out under the supervision of R. Raymond, manager of the Crystal Garden, Fred and Mary Ellison being the instructors.

Johnny Whitehead Pitches American League Squad to Easy Victory Over National League Rivals in City Play-Off—Victory Makes It Fourth Straight Triumph for the Winners

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (P).—John Henderson Whitehead, problem child of the White Sox, hurled the American League to another victory today, as the southsiders conquered the Cubs, 6-1, for their fourth consecutive Chicago championship.

For Defenceman Doug Young, Wingman Larry Aurie and Rear-guard Orville Rouillon, it was their first time on skates since their accidents last winter.

DETHRONE TERRIERS IN STRAIGHT GAMES TO TAKE MANN CUP

Coast Stickhandlers Bring Trophy and Championship to the West After Ten Years—Final Score Is 19 to 12 for New Westminster—Hank Munro Heads Scorers With Five Goals

QUEEN'S PARK ARENA, NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 13 (P).—New Westminster lacrosse champions won the Mann Cup here tonight, crushing Orillia Terriers, 19-12, for their third straight win in the best-of-five series.

Salmonbellies won the first game, 11-9, here Friday, and marked up their second victory at Vancouver on Monday, 15-10.

Tonight's victory brought the title to British Columbia for the first time in ten years and dethroned the Orillians, champions since 1933.

Orillia's last period rally came too late, as Salmonbellies outscored the former champions in the first three periods.

New Westminster scored six goals to two in the first period and led, 10-3, at half-time. They kept up their fast pace to outscore the Terriers, 4-1, in the third period, and bagged five counters in the last period against Orillia's eight.

Traveling faster than the Easterners and passing and shooting more accurately, the newly-crowned champions were never threatened.

HEADS SCORERS

Hank Munro, former Terrier, was a tower of strength to the Royal City squad, scoring five goals, and was the mainstay of a stout flumen defence, which didn't give the Easterners many chances for direct shots on the goal. Munro played the full sixty minutes of the three games.

Don Wilson, Orillia sharpshooter, led their scoring with three goals, while Joe Cheevers bagged two. Terriers' two netminders, Ray Mortimer and Bill MacArthur, couldn't compare with Pete Anthony in the Salmonbelly net, as the latter stopped thirty-five shots against their twenty-six.

THIRD PERIOD—14. Salmonbellies, Downey, 7:00; 15, Orillia, Snowden (Walsh), 9:28; 16, Salmonbellies, Fraser (Wilkes), 10:10; 17, Salmonbellies, Munro, 10:20; 18, Salmonbellies, Fetherston, 10:57. Penalties: Wilson, Cheevers.

FOURTH PERIOD—19. Salmonbellies, Downey (Campbell), 1:00; 20, Orillia, Bain, 3:40; 21, Orillia, Smith, 5:17; 22, Salmonbellies, Wilkes, 6:16; 23, Salmonbellies, Wilson, 8:12; 24, Orillia, Cheevers, 9:20; 25, Salmonbellies, Wilkes (Coulter), 10:02; 26, Orillia, Wilson (Kelly), 11:16; 27, Orillia, Boettger (Bain), 12:22; 28, Orillia, Walsh (MacArthur), 12:34; 29, Orillia, Steggall, 13:25; 30, Salmonbellies, Wilson (Meehan), 14:12; 31, Orillia, Wilson, 14:35. Penalties: Bain, Ayles, Campbell, Keil, Bain.

Benny Lynch Scores Kayo Over P. Kane

GLASGOW, Oct. 13 (P).—Benny Lynch, of Scotland, retained his claim to the world flyweight championship tonight with a thirteenth-round knockout of Peter Kane, Liverpool slugger. Lynch scaled 111 pounds to 110 for Kane.

They fought before 40,000 people. A heavy shower fell before the fight and the ring was liberally slatted. However, the boxers slipped several times.

Each gave a magnificent display, but towards the end Kane was visibly tired. The match ended with Lynch raining blows on Kane's unprotected head. Kane went down for a seven count, rose and sank to his knees again under a heavy bombardment, and was counted out when unable to get up.

The fight started sensationally, with Lynch sending Kane to his haunches with the first blow of the fight.

PUCK LEAGUE WILL OPEN ON NOVEMBER 4

Season's Schedule in National League Will Commence Next Month

MONTREAL, Oct. 13 (P).—The National Hockey League will raise the curtain on its 1937-38 campaign at Toronto and Chicago, November 4, with Leafs and Black Hawks playing hosts to the world-champion Detroit Red Wings and New York Americans, respectively.

From then until March 20 each team will play forty-eight games to eliminate two clubs, leaving six to carry on in the annual scramble for the Stanley Cup. As usual, N.H.L. warfare will not end until near the end of April.

The schedule, released today, will send all eight teams into action by November 9, when Black Hawks visit Montreal to open Canadiens' season. Montreal fans, however, won't have to wait that long for a look at Boston Bruins as slated to visit Maroons November 6, the same night Americans tangle at Toronto with Leafs in the first of Toronto's Saturday-night stands.

Rangers make their opening start in Detroit November 7 and after Canadiens show two nights later the teams go on the usual six-month whirl of forty-eight games each. Sunday-night hockey for Canadiens, rumored for a couple of seasons, doesn't appear on the schedule, the Flying Frenchmen having their usual quota of mid-week and Saturday clashes.

RANJIT SINGH MEETS MARRS ON SATURDAY

Second Half of Double Main Event Completed for This Week's Show

After doing some smart dicker-ing with outside promoters, Match-maker Fred Richardson managed to land Ranjit Singh, graduate from the University of Punjab, and Johnny Marrs, a protege of the well-known John Pesek from the Middle West, for the second half of his main double event wrestling programme Saturday night at the Tillicum gymnasium. On Tuesday the local promoter completed the first half of the card by signing up Kimon Kudo, Japanese jiu-jitsu expert, and "Scotty" Dawkins, of Chicago. They will appear in a mixed bout and plenty of action is promised the ringiders, no matter what the outcome is.

According to advance information on Singh, he is said to be one of the strongest matmen ever to come out of India. He is colorful, smart, and well versed in the use of all the modern holds. In Vancouver, Seattle, and wherever he appears on the Coast, the husky Hindu has made a strong hit with spectators. One thing about him, he never gives up and is always trying from the first clang of the gong. His opponent, Johnny Marrs, is well ranked in the heavyweight class and is a clever grappler. Singh will outweigh Marrs by fifteen pounds when they enter the ring, the former being 230 and the latter 215. With the signing of these two main events it means that Victorians will see four new faces in action.

Another new wrestler will appear in the special event against Louis Newman, local heavyweight. Arrangements for this bout will be completed some time today. It will be five ten-minute rounds, while the double main will be ten six-minute sessions. The first bout will commence at 8:45.

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs: Actress (James) $29.40 19.50 $5.50; Droop (Richards) 4.40 2.80; Paper Drop (Wright) 4.50 2.50. Time, 1:15 2-5. Also ran: Free Ride; Marine Maid; Ben Jabbers; Prince Mowles; Stealin Home; Astelwood; Cantille.

Bartell Scores for Giants

With outside promoters, Match-maker Fred Richardson managed to land Ranjit Singh, graduate from the University of Punjab, and Johnny Marrs, a protege of the well-known John Pesek from the Middle West, for the second half of his main double event wrestling programme Saturday night at the Tillicum gymnasium. On Tuesday the local promoter completed the first half of the card by signing up Kimon Kudo, Japanese jiu-jitsu expert, and "Scotty" Dawkins, of Chicago. They will appear in a mixed bout and plenty of action is promised the ringiders, no matter what the outcome is.

According to advance information on Singh, he is said to be one of the strongest matmen ever to come out of India. He is colorful, smart, and well versed in the use of all the modern holds. In Vancouver, Seattle, and wherever he appears on the Coast, the husky Hindu has made a strong hit with spectators. One thing about him, he never gives up and is always trying from the first clang of the gong. His opponent, Johnny Marrs, is well ranked in the heavyweight class and is a clever grappler. Singh will outweigh Marrs by fifteen pounds when they enter the ring, the former being 230 and the latter 215. With the signing of these two main events it means that Victorians will see four new faces in action.

Another new wrestler will appear in the special event against Louis Newman, local heavyweight. Arrangements for this bout will be completed some time today. It will be five ten-minute rounds, while the double main will be ten six-minute sessions. The first bout will commence at 8:45.

Victorian Drops From Montreal Six-Day Event—Pedens Trail Leaders

MONTREAL, Oct. 14 (P).—Jimmy Walthour and Al Crossley, starchy United States pair, pulled up to within a lap of the two leading teams early today in Montreal's fifteenth international six-day bicycle race. Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, of Germany, still were tied for first place with Emil Dier and Emil Ignat, of France.

Three other pairs applied pressure during the night's sprints to pull up to within two laps of the leaders. They were the Pedens, Rebol-Audy and Rodman-Gadon teams.

Gerard Debaets, who lost Murray (Muiz) Patrick as a partner through injuries, teamed with Baggio to continue the race seven laps off the pace.

Standing at 1 a.m.: Miles Laps Pts. Kilian-Vopel 1,277 8 428; Ignat-Dier 1,277 8 315; Walthour-Crossley 1,277 7 179; Pedens-Pedens 1,277 6 199;

TIMING OF CROSS-RUFF

Hands involving cross-ruffs often require great delicacy in timing. The trick is to cash one's top cards before the defenders can void themselves in those suits. But this, of course, is just a generality. Different holdings demand different tactics. In the hand shown below the question of entries is the crucial one.

Match point duplicate.
South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
♠ K Q 5		♠ J 6 4 2
♥ K 7 4 3		♥ Q 8 5
♦ 5		♦ A K Q 10 3 2
♣ A 10 6 4 2		♣ J 9 8 3

SOUTH		WEST
♠ A 10 9 8 3		♠ 7
♥ A 6		♥ J 10 9 2
♦ J 8 6 4		♦ A K Q 10 3 2
♣ K T		♣ Q 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♠	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

North was not completely satisfied with his own double spade raise, but probably thought it the least of all evils. As a matter of fact, it was a highly dangerous bid. For all North knew, South might have a four spade suit. After a double raise this would not keep him from bidding four spades, since he would expect to find at least four trumps in North's hand. North counted his singleton diamond and three trumps as valuable for ruffing purposes, but, obviously, if South needed North's trumps as trumps, they could not be used for ruffers also. North should have bid three clubs and hoped that South would be able to rebid spades. Then, in the knowledge that South had at least five trumps, four spades would have been the marked bid.

West opened the diamond king and shifted to the heart jack. Declarer saw that his contract was virtually "on ice," but, since this was match-point duplicate, he naturally wanted to make as many tricks as possible.

Two different lines of play were attractive: One, to attempt the establishment of North's club suit; the other, to embark on a straight cross-ruff. With nothing whatsoever to guide him, declarer might well have chosen the club suit establishment plan. But he saw an objection to this. West, a fairly conservative player, had made a vulnerable overall of two diamonds. He could have no ace or king in any suit except diamonds, and therefore it appeared highly likely that he held at least a six card suit. This, in turn, implied that a 3-3 club break and a 3-2 spade break were extremely remote. Since the club establishment plan depended upon both of these breaks, declarer rightly determined to abandon that plan in favor of the cross-ruff.

Winning West's heart lead with the ace, declarer ruffed a diamond with dummy's low trump, then cashed the heart king, and ruffed a third round with the spade three. Another diamond was ruffed with the queen, and declarer carefully noted East's discard of a club.

It became more and more probable that East had long spades, which, of course, implied that he held the jack. A fourth round of hearts was ruffed with the spade eight, East meanwhile discarding another club. Now, to prevent East from getting rid of any more clubs, declarer played the king and over to the ace, then led a third round of clubs. East, down to trumps, had to ruff. Declarer overruffed and ruffed his last diamond with dummy's spade king. Now, East was forced to undertrump. With the play in dummy, all declarer had to do was lead a club and again over-ruff East. Only one trick, the first, had been lost.

A slightly different sequence of plays on declarer's part would have held him to eleven tricks, as was manifested by the fact that most players, in his position had to be satisfied with only one overtrick.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question—What is the correct response to partner's opening three no trump bid with the following:

Answer—Four spades.

TOMORROW'S HAND

SEES VICTORY FOR LOYALISTS

Man for Man, Government Forces Should Win, Declares Correspondent

Provided that no more foreign volunteers join the forces of General Francisco Franco, the troops of the Spanish Loyalist Government should eventually win the Spanish conflict, in the opinion of Lawrence A. Fernsworth, staff correspondent in Spain of The London Times.

Mr. Fernsworth is also president of the Foreign Correspondents' Association in Valencia, Loyalist capital, and is widely known as a contributor to Foreign Affairs, Current History and The Economist. He is registered here at the Empress Hotel.

OUTCOME OF WAR

Mr. Fernsworth further declares that the outcome of the war, and the future of Europe depend to a great extent on the attitude taken by Great Britain and France in the near future. He suggests that foreign troops are the main strength of Franco, who has been unwilling that such forces be withdrawn. The Loyalists, on the other hand, are quite willing that further foreign aid be completely stopped.

The correspondent points out that victory for General Franco, who is so closely allied with Germany and Italy, would upset the equilibrium in the Mediterranean, which is so vital to both Great Britain and France.

These nations, he maintains, will no longer be bluffed by Mussolini calling out three classes of reserves, a repetition of that which he did in the Ethiopian crisis.

SOVIET NAVAL POWER

Commenting on the Sino-Japanese conflict, he pointed out that he did not think Russia would enter the war in the near future, since the Russian coast on the Pacific was inadequately protected because of lack of Soviet naval power.

Mr. Fernsworth, who has represented The Times in Spain for the past six years, left Valencia in mid-August, and will visit Portland, Ore., which is his home town; San Francisco and New York before returning to Spain in mid-November.

RECEIVES OFFER FOR CHURCH SITE

Nanaimo City Council Considering Bid From Presbyterians for Property on Wallace Street

NANAIMO, Oct. 13.—The City Council last night was considering an offer from the Presbyterian Church here of $1,000 for the site of the old Wallace Street Methodist Church, at the corner of Wallace and Franklin Streets. The property had reverted to the city for non-payment of taxes and last January was suggested as a possible site for a new city hall. The council did not disclose its decision concerning the offer.

The board refused to grant Nanaimo Hospital a tag day in November to take the place of a given date in September which the ladies failed to convert into a public tag.

FIRE CHIEF'S REPORT

The fire chief's report stating that only two alarms had been answered in September with no damage, brought expressions of satisfaction from councillors with which Mayor Barsby felt insurance companies would concur. Alderman Inkster reported on the Seattle Yacht Club banquet which he attended with Mayor Barsby to extend an invitation for the international cruiser race to finish here this year. While nothing definite was arranged, Alderman Inkster stated that many Americans whom they had met in the Sound City favored Nanaimo as the finishing point.

A. V. Taylor was appointed caretaker of Nanaimo-Comox Auto Park, succeeding W. Bradley, resigned.

WILL REMAIN IN SPEAKER'S CHAIR

Hon. Norman Hipel to Retain Post
In New Ontario Legislature,
Breaking Old Custom

TORONTO, Oct. 13 (C).—Hon. Norman Hipel, Speaker of Ontario's nineteenth Legislature, will hold the same post in the twentieth recently elected, Premier Mitchell Hepburn announced last night.

Reappointment of the Waterloo South member to the Assembly's chair breaks a custom of years' standing that a Speaker should rule only one Legislature. James H. Clark, M.P.P. for Windsor-Sandwich, deputy speaker of the last House, will also carry on in that job.

Ian T. Strachan, Toronto-St. Georges, will be chief Liberal whip; deputy whip will be Dr. M. T. Armstrong, Parry Sound.

Loggers Busy on Moresby Island

PRINCE RUPERT, Oct. 13 (C).—Logging operators today estimated camps on Moresby Island, southern island in the Queen Charlotte Group, would produce a record 100,000,000 feet during 1937.

The operators said camps would begin curtailing their work for the winter some time this month, but none of the camps would be closed down completely.
